

Jonathan A. Chen

Law Practice

Jonathan A. Chen is an accomplished attorney with over a dozen years of litigation experience, focusing on real estate and construction law. He has represented Fortune 500 companies, privately held businesses, real estate developers, manufacturers, general contractors, and insurance service providers. Jon is known for achieving favorable results in high-stakes disputes, whether through strategic settlement negotiations or persuasive courtroom advocacy.

Jon's practice covers the full spectrum of real estate and construction issues, including contract disputes, defect claims, development agreements, and commercial transactions. He also provides corporate clients with practical, business-focused advice on compliance, risk management, and deal structuring.

Prior to joining Briscoe Prows Kao Ivester & Bazel LLP, Jon served as Associate General Counsel for a vertically integrated real estate company, where he advised on development projects, construction disputes, and property management matters. His experience includes negotiating multimillion-dollar transactions and complex commercial contracts with both public and private entities.
